FINISH ROAD TWENTYSIX IN NINETEEN THIRTY-SIX!

Miami's on her toes. She'll brook no delay. She wants Road 26 finished this year. In its issue for February 27, the Miami Herald said: "The county commissioners on Tuesday endorsed the campaign of the Chamber of Commerce and municipalities in central and lake region of the state for completion of Road 26 which will create a direct route between Miami and the Lake Okechobee region."

"Two members of the county commissioners, two members of the city commission and a representative of the Chamber of Commerce plan to attend the meeting of the State Highway department in Orlando on March 23, when the department budget will be approved at a public hearing. They will request that funds be placed in the budget for the completion of the highway."

And now, in its issue of March 17, the Herald continues: "Miami will be represented by a large delegation at the meeting of the State Road department in Orlando on March 23 at which efforts will be made through a cooperation of Chamber of Commerce and city and county officials in other sec-

Out of a field of 27 entries only ten cars survived in the hazardous 200 mile Daytona Beach official Stock Car Races. Nine of the ten were Fords. V-8's also took all four winning places. The photos

thrown clear of his overturned car. The car—a '36 V-8, was righted and driven on. Fords are sold in Pahokee and Belle Glade by B. Elliott, authorized dealer.

The Miami delegation will leave here in an acre car Sunday morning and will reach Orlando that night. Headquarters will be at the Angelbitt hotel. "Completion of Road 26 and 26-A will give an outlet for more than 30,000 residents of the Lake Okechobee area into Miami and Ft. Lauderdale for their farm products and also permit them to carry on a reciprocal trade in this area," Kessler declared. "Among those invited to attend the meeting are Cecil Turner, chairman of the county commission; W. Cecil Watson, C. H. Orndorff, H. L. Cook, and J. L. Paxson, county commissioners; Mayor A. D. H. Fossey, E. G. Sewell, Robert R. Williams, Orville Rigby, and Alexander Orr, Jr., city commissioners; W. Keith Phillips, president of the Miami Chamber of Commerce; Mr. Kessler, Charles H. Leffler, J. Avery Guyton, Harvey Payne, John C. Hall, W. G. Thos. E. Will.

Of course, all informed people know that Road 26 is a child of the Upper Glades; that it was born here 18 years ago; and that, despite endless opposition, our fight for it has never stopped. Now our slogan is: "FINISH ROAD TWENTYSIX IN NINETEEN HUNDRED THIRTY-SIX."

STATE C. C. HEAD WOULD ABOLISH USELESS BOARDS

1497 Separate Taxing
Units Too Many, Says
Cole

FORT PIERCE, Mar. 12.—"It is absurd that Florida should have 1497 separate taxing units. We must abolish all useless bureaus, boards, commissions and offices that clutter up government or government will collapse of its own weight," warned Harold Cole, president of the Florida State Chamber of Commerce, before the annual meeting of the Association of County Commissioners of Florida here recently.

"I believe the time is near at hand, if not here right now, when we will have to start over again; eliminate a lot of this superfluous government and then rebuild," he declared. "I want to say right here, I am not radical, neither am I a reformer. My record shows that—rather I am thinking in terms of cold business. I am simply voicing my opposition to the creation of new boards, commissions, bureaus and offices of every kind and character. "It might add that we need no new municipalities. And, I am frank to confess I believe we could do without a lot of them. We now have and which just add to the cost of business. The numerous municipalities not only add to the cost of government, but they create partisan and civic jealousies that hinder progress. I come to you representing the business interests of Florida. It is my purpose to talk to you briefly about business and the place of business in our social and economic life. But it down and our sole structure rests upon business. It is business that provides the vehicle for human endeavor, initiative and industry.

"Florida business, in all its component parts, can accomplish much if we get down to brass tacks and give business a chance. Problems of taxation, government costs, regulatory measures, excessive and expensive bureaus and commissions—all add to the burden placed upon business. Every sane thinking business man asks nothing more than to be given a fair opportunity to build his business into profits for the benefit of himself, his community and his state," Mr. Cole said.

"Our first problem is to so organize and arouse business that it will stand up and fight for itself. Time was, when a county was laid by the distance a person could travel to the county seat from his home and back in one day. We have sixty-seven counties in Florida, more than the whole state of

New York with its much greater population.

In the interest of good government, efficient business, reasonable economy and common sense, I believe a material reduction in this expense is imperative," said President Cole.

"We have done a marvelous piece of road building during the past ten years. Let us turn our attention to the maintenance of those miles of roads we have.

"Millions of acres of land have been returned to the state because of non-payment of taxes. We must get these millions of acres back on the tax rolls. To do this we must adopt some intelligent system, whereby the ownership of lands will be attractive. As it is, taxes are not paid, and others, learning of the many defaults refuse to pay their taxes. In fact thousands of acres should not be taxed over 25c per acre," he said.

"We do NOT need new sources of revenue—the only desirable 'new source of revenue' is increased taxation. It is good business practice to operate conservatively with what we have. Private business does not increase operating costs until the business justifies. This is the stand you, as business men, should take in the conduct of the country's business as you do in your own."

ROAD MARKINGS AID IN HALTING NUMBER MISHAPS

TALLAHASSEE, Mar. 19.—(PNS)—The road department has saved 50 percent in the cost of doing this work since last year, when the dot and dash system supplanted the continuous line system, and the new plan means every requirement and is as effective. Treadway said that the first year, only curves were marked, but even at that, 4,000 miles of traveled highway was marked for benefit of the motoring public.

COMPTROLLER J. M. LEE

TALLAHASSEE, Mar. 19.—(PNS)—With the job of raising the unprecedented sum of $30,000 to insure payment of salaries for Florida's school teachers practically completed in spite of failure of the state tax to produce available funds, State Comptroller J. M. Lee, today, took time out long enough to ask Florida Democrats to give him a second term at the helm of the state's fiscal structure.

Comptroller Lee's announcement follows: "To the Democrats of Florida: Based upon the manner in which I have fulfilled my platform pledges of 1932 and the official record of accomplishments and services rendered as such official, I hereby announce my candidacy for a second term as your comptroller, subject to the Democratic primary. If elected, I shall continue to serve in the same impartial and aggressive manner."

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to express my thanks and appreciation to all that were so kind and thoughtful in my time of sorrow.

GETZEN STANDS ON HIS RECORD

Speaking at Pahokee Saturday night, Samuel W. Getzen, member of the legislature from Sumter county, and former state senator, made a strong appeal in behalf of his candidacy for state treasurer. He was introduced by Mayor John Dulaney.

Mr. Getzen based his claim for the office on his legislative record as a champion of the common schools, the home owner and taxpayer, the farmers and citrus grovers, for greater freedom for women, and as an advocate of "Florida First" in everything.

Mr. Getzen claimed the distinction of having introduced every piece of major school legislation since he became a member of the legislature thirteen years ago. "I have fought for the betterment of the common schools, for prompt payment of teachers' salaries, and for teachers' pensions. I have fought for the teaching unit system, for free school books and free scholarships, and for placing appropriations to common schools upon parity with other governmental departments and for larger appropriations for schools. I fought for the qualification act for teachers. I have opposed the illegal transfer of the sacred school funds to the general revenue fund in violation of our constitution. As a member of the state board of education I shall always work for the betterment of the school system, and for better salaries to teachers.

"I assisted in passage of the law permitting the state road department, at the request of the board of county commissioners, to take over and free toll bridges," he said. Mr. Getzen pointed out that he introduced and led the fight for passage of the Workmen's Compensation Act.

MODERN MIXED VEGETABLES

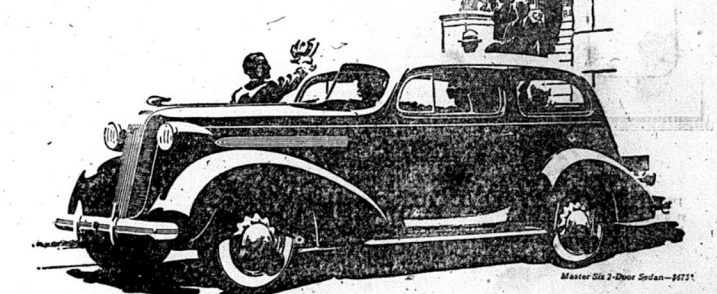

PERHAPS you like to parboil in the kitchen preparing vegetables for cooking. Most people don't, and there is a good modern way to avoid all this work. The way is simply to use mixed vegetables in cans. Then all the work of preparation has been done for you much more thoroughly than you could do it, and you can go straight to your cooking. What a variety of combinations you can make with these mixed vegetables in cans! Carrots, cutlets, jellies, stuffed peppers, even Casserole of Carrots and Vegetables! Baked one minced fufus in one-third cup butter, but not brown. Add one and a half teaspoon curry powder, one teaspoon celery seed and one teaspoon salt. Add one cup boiling water, and cook a few minutes longer. Pour this over three cups hot cooked rice and toss lightly together until well mixed. Line bottom and sides of a buttered casserole with the rice and fill center with the drained contents of a No. 2 can of mixed vegetables. Cover with rice, dot with two tablespoons butter, and bake in a hot oven for about thirty minutes. Makes eight servings.

Cutlets and Jellies: "Vegetable Cutlets": Make a thick white sauce of two tablespoons butter, four tablespoons flour and one cup milk, and season lightly with salt and pepper. Add the well-drained contents of a No. 2 can of mixed vegetables and spread out on a buttered plate to cool and stiffen. Then take up heaping tablespoonsful of mixture and shape into cutlets (or croquettes, if desired). Roll in fine crumbs, then in one well-beaten egg, and again in crumbs. Set in refrigerator to get firm. Fry in deep fat—350 degrees—until brown. Makes about twelve cutlets or croquettes. Stuffed Peppers: Boil two tablespoons peeled-in-one-half cup water, and dissolve in two and a half cups boiling canned tomato juice. Add four tablespoons sugar, four tablespoons vinegar, four tablespoons lemon juice and one teaspoon salt. Cool and let thicken to consistency of honey. Add the drained mixed vegetable from a No. 2 can, pour into well-lubricated mold and let harden in refrigerator. When ready to serve, turn out of mold. Serve with a dressing made by whipping one-half cup cream and beating into it one-half cup French dressing. Makes eight to ten servings.

Baked Stuffed Peppers: Cut off stem ends of six or eight medium green peppers, and remove seeds and membrane. Parboil for two or three minutes in boiling water. Drain. Combine contents of a No. 2 can mixed vegetables with one cup white sauce, season well and fill peppers with mixture. Fry with buttered crumbs. (If desired, a square of sliced cheese may be placed on each pepper.) Place close together in a shallow pan and surround with a little hot water. Bake until tender and browned or about thirty minutes. Makes six to eight servings.
